

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to injectable gel-forming compositions which contain an association of linear and cross-linked polymers and are embodied in the form of a suspension. The use of said compositions, in particular for filling pipes and cavities is also disclosed.